

Try a Job Chart

1 Chronicles 27:25–34 is a list of jobs David gave the men who helped him rule Israel. The list is a job chart: It names David's helpers and tells the job each one had. Which job would you have wanted? Would you have liked Hushai's job (verse 33)? A confidant is a friend.

Make a family job chart by writing down the different jobs that have to be done: take out garbage, put away dishes, sweep the floor, fold clothes, and so on. Then make a chart listing the name of each family member. Beside each name write the jobs that person will do. Once every two weeks, switch jobs. The job chart will tell how every member of the family helps, just as this Bible passage tells the jobs of David's helpers.
