

Telling the Good News

Read in 2 Kings 5:1–14 about a girl who was probably about your age. She was a slave for the wife of Naaman, the army commander for the king of Aram. The commander had a terrible skin disease called leprosy, and the girl in the Bible story wanted to help him. She helped just by telling what she knew about God. Write down five important things you know about God. Show the list to your church school teacher or your mom or dad, and ask whether you have left out anything important. Then tell a friend what you know about God and Jesus.

Live It!
