

Power in Praise

Do you ever have a day like Tyler's?

Tyler was miserable. Dad had to work late and couldn't take him to the ball game. Mom made him eat food he hated for supper. And now he had to do homework instead of watching TV.

Have a "Tyler contest." Ask each member of your family to show how Tyler will probably act by making faces or by the way they walk or sit.

Then read Acts 16:16–34. Together list some things Tyler might have praised God for, even though he was disappointed. Then make a list of things your family can praise God for. Post the list where everyone in the family can read it. The list will remind you that praise gives us the power to be happy even when things go wrong.

Live It!
